The villa, which was once a cellar within a vast estate, is located near historical sites and the crystal-clear sea of Sicily. Every corner has been expertly restored and modernized, blending ancient and contemporary elements with materials such as stone, concrete, and plaster.

The estate consists of four separate buildings, a main house, and an independent villa with a private pool. As well as a beautiful outdoor "living room" surrounded by an olive grove.

Each room, extremely welcoming, is a tribute to Sicilian tradition: some retain the original family furnishings, while others stand out for a design that marries tradition and modernity with the surrounding landscape.

The lush gardens of the estate are adorned with palms and exotic flora, while the various terraces and patio areas, equipped with comfortable sunbeds, lounge chairs, and dining tables, invite guests to relax and enjoy unforgettable meals with panoramic views.

The property also has a dedicated fitness space, perfect for maintaining your workout routine while surrounded by breathtaking natural beauty.

The property, located in Palma di Montechiaro, evokes the historic elegance of the film "The Leopard," (Il Gattopardo, the Italian original title) with Burt Lancaster playing Prince Fabrizio Corbera di Salina. Nearby, Licata (16 km) and Agrigento (30 km) offer an immersion in a world of vibrant colors, sounds, history, and culture.

A short distance away, the famous Valley of the Temples in Agrigento stands as a monument to classical Greek art and architecture, while nearby beaches and nature reserves promise unforgettable adventures under the Sicilian sun.

The immersion in the Italian lifestyle begins in the villa, with a patio ideal for reading moments, listening to music, or enjoying an aperitif while the sun sets over the olive grove, offering a wonderful view of the countryside. The space near the pool is perfect for organizing areas dedicated to massages or fitness, or for outdoor culinary events with a personal chef, all accompanied by live music, immersed in a timeless environment.
