Description

Villa Adamantia is a stunning luxury property for rent in Apulia, near the quaint village of Fasano. Featuring its own olive groves and sprawled across an extensive estate (the external area is around 12,000 square meters), it's one of the few mansions in the area with a modern take on the traditional Apulia garden.

A poetic environment surrounds this one-story residence, creating a masterful harmony of colors and scents and ensuring a unique multisensory experience for all guests.

The incorporation of a historical take into the home design creates a hip and classy look made of stunning details such as exposed stone and precious wooden floors. Villa Adamantia's rooms showcase a rustic vibe, and the vaulted stone ceilings create a beautiful synergy between tradition and modernity, between past and present. Classical Apulian architectural features, including arches and white stone, are blended with more contemporary additions – especially in furniture design.

The house also boasts carefully selected materials, such as locally mined stone, cedar and Carrara and Black Marquinia marbles. It can accommodate four visitors and features two double bedrooms with ensuite bathrooms in addition to a further one-half bathroom. As far as amenities go, there is plenty to enjoy: from the 50' Satellite TV to the modern fridge with an integrated ice machine, to the fully equipped kitchen for your delicious in-house meals.
